Hello Campers,

I could not have been happier when the camping season started again last year. I was really looking forward to seeing each and every one of you after a long winter (and this winter is no different). I'm watching the days go by on the calendar and soon the park will be open again.

Last year, my son Andrew came back home to live here at the park with me. I believe most of you had a chance to meet him. We certainly have a lot planned for this year. This includes completing our 2nd 24 unit storage building, hopefully a laundry room and the biggest project of all will be Codgers Cove development, which will consist of 118 lots. This development will be just to the east of the park. Like the fish and fishing pole at the entrance of the park we will be building a lighthouse at the entryway of the development. If you have any interest in a lot or know someone who might, just contact us and we will send out an information packet.

The deer and rabbits have been hard on our trees this winter. There will be some that have to be replaced. We will certainly have to be more vigilant next fall concerning this problem.

The 3rd annual hog roast will be on Saturday night July 1st. This year we will be making some changes to the event.

The walleye fishing last year got a little challenging after July. Everyone has a theory, but facts are that with the large amount of bait fish in the lake they are going to be more difficult to catch and we will all have to sharpen our skills. The good thing is they will be very healthy and growing, meaning large fish. You may want to put your taxidermist on speed dial.

With the drier weather last year the weeds certainly became a problem and we have hired a professional this year to combat this issue, so bare with us a little.

With only 20 spots available this year the park will expand. Plans are underway for that to begin October 2.

Please fill out this lease agreement form and send it along with your check for 1400.⁰⁰ for the site and 900.⁰⁰ for a storage unit by May 1st.

Again I want to thank everyone for coming to Codgers Cove RV Park and we are looking forward to seeing everyone again soon. Hopefully we will see many new faces this year as well!

We can almost smell the camp fires, hear the laughter and see the beautiful lake now. Almost!
